City Of Ember Book Chapter

In Ember, the sky is always dark. Flood lamps mounted on buildings and poles illuminate the streets while they're on; when they're off between nine p.m. and six a.m., Ember is too dark to see anything. Sometimes, the lights go off in the middle of the day, as Ember is an old city and everything is in disrepair.

CHAPTER 1 Assignment Day In the city of Ember, the sky was always dark. The only light came from great flood lamps mounted on the buildings and at the tops of poles in the middle of the larger squares. When the lights were on, they cast a yellowish glow over the streets; people walking by threw long shadows that shortened and then stretched out again.

Lina's thought that Barton Snode might be new at his job again shows that she's perceptive and compassionate, qualities that are essential when living in a community like Ember. What she reads in The Book of the City of Ember this time indicates that life in Ember is tightly regimented (as evidenced by the need to faithfully keep time) and that it's designed to be as egalitarian as possible (people have enough, but no luxuries). Keep in mind, however, that though these guidelines are ...
