Ethiopian Constitutional Development

Ethiopia adopted a constitution that creates a two-tiered federal structure, which, at least in principle, emphasized ethnic groups' rights and the right to self-determination. The EPRDF captured the capital, Addis Ababa, on May 28, 1991.

Constitutional history of Ethiopia | ConstitutionNet

The TGE was replaced by the Federal Democratic Republic of Ethiopia, which was established by a constitution adopted in 1994 but not promulgated until after the federal elections of 1995. The new constitution stated that "sovereignty resides in the nations, nationalities and peoples of Ethiopia" rather than in the people as a whole and granted each nation, nationality, or people rights of self-determination, up to and including secession.
