And Hebrews presents Christ and His service in the heavens as antitype and fulfilment of the Old Testament instructions of service. Hebrews differs in some respect with the other epistles of the NT. God is not called father of the believers (Hebrews 12:7; Hebrews 12:9 are figurative only) and the position of the believer in Christ is not considered. The believers are seen as men on earth having free entrance to God and a heavenly calling by the work of Christ.

The advantage we shall reap by thus doing: it will be a means to prevent our weariness and fainting (Hebrews 12:3): Lest you be weary and faint in your minds. Observe, [1.] There is a proneness in the best to grow weary and to faint under their trials and afflictions, especially when they prove heavy and of long continuance: this proceeds from the imperfections of grace and the remains of corruption.

1. In this verse God tells Christians, who are his children, that he wants them to do three things. Number one he says, lay aside every weight, number two they aside sin, and number three run with endurance. First let's consider God's command to lay aside every weight. The weights mentioned here in verse one refer to spiritual weights.

Hebrews tells us in v.2, that Jesus is the One who made the world, as described in Genesis 1. And of course, Genesis teaches that the creation process was itself the result of God speaking Creation into existence. This is why John takes to calling Jesus by the title "The Word" in his Gospel. Jesus is God's spoken Word, according to John
