Visual anthropology is a subfield of social anthropology that is concerned, in part, with the study and production of ethnographic photography, film and, since the mid-1990s, new media. More recently it has been used by historians of science and visual culture. Although sometimes wrongly conflated with ethnographic film, Visual Anthropology encompasses much

Principles of Visual Anthropology was published in 1975; now, 23 years later, we have Rethinking Visual Anthropology. Both are multi-author works. The years separating Principles of Visual Anthropology and Rethinking Visual Anthropology are too few to claim generational change. Yet enough time has passed to warrant a fresh look at the subject.
