Stephen King | Thinner

Thinner is a horror novel by American author Stephen King, published in 1984 by NAL under King's pseudonym Richard Bachman. The story centers on lawyer Billy Halleck, who kills a crossing Gypsy in a road accident and escapes legal punishment because of his connections. However, the Gypsy's father places a curse on Halleck, which causes him to lose weight uncontrollably. King, who was overweight at the time of the novel's writing, created the novel's outline following an annual medical examinatio

Richard Bachman (Stephen King) THINNER New American ...

Thinner is Stephen King's indictment of unchecked American wealth, privilege, and greed. As much a commentary on its time as The Dead Zone was, King's cynical look at 1980s America is at turns gruesome and insightful, a horror novel that works literally and allegorically. As his last work under the Richard Bachman name before the news of his pseudonym came to light, Thinner was also the most recognizably "Stephen King" book among the Bachman books.
